DETAILED ACTION

Priority

1. Receipt is acknowledged of papers submitted under 35 U.S.C. 119(a)-(d), which papers have been placed of record in the file.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

2. The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

3. Claims 1-21 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

Claims 1 and 7, "the resulting hydrogel" lacks antecedent basis.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

5. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless -

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Art Unit: 1754

6. Claims 1-4, and 6 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Sakai et al. US 5,750,258.

Regarding claim 1, Sakai '258 discloses a method for making silica gel comprising hydrolysis of a silicon alkoxide to produce a sol-gel (see column 4, lines 40-52 and Example 1), and increasing the temperature of the resultant solution up to 60 degrees Celsius (see Example 1; column 16, lines 42-46).

Regarding claim 2, Sakai '258 discloses a breaking strength of 50 kgf/mm<sup>2</sup> (see column 8, lines 15-20).

Regarding claim 3, Sakai '258 discloses 60 degrees Celsius for 10 hours (see column 16, lines 42-46).

Regarding claim 4, Sakai '258 discloses addition of aqueous ammonia (see column 16, lines 36-38).

Regarding claim 6, Sakai '258 does not disclose a template.

7. Claims 1, 3-4, and 6 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Misuda et al. US 5,307,821.

Regarding claim 1, Misuda '821 discloses a method of making silica gel comprising hydrolysis of a silicon alkoxide (see column 2, lines 37-45) and keeping at 60-70 degrees for 4-10 hours (see column 5, lines 35-39).

Regarding claim 3, Misuda '821 discloses 60-70 degrees for 4-10 hours (see column 5, lines 35-39).

Art Unit: 1754

Regarding claim 4, Misuda '821 discloses addition of aqueous ammonia (see paragraph bridging columns 4-5).

Regarding claim 6, Misuda '821 does not disclose a template.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

8. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

9. Claims 7-10 and 20 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as anticipated by or, in the alternative, under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as obvious over Sakai '258.

Regarding claim 7, Sakai '258 discloses a silica gel made by a process comprising hydrolysis of a silicon alkoxide to produce a sol-gel (see column 4, lines 40-52 and Example 1), and increasing the temperature of the resultant solution up to 60 degrees Celsius (see Example 1; column 16, lines 42-46).

Regarding claim 8, Sakai '258 discloses a breaking strength of 50 kgf/mm<sup>2</sup> (see column 8, lines 15-20).

Art Unit: 1754

Regarding claim 9, Sakai '258 discloses 60 degrees Celsius for 10 hours (see column 16, lines 42-46).

Regarding claim 10, Sakai '258 discloses addition of aqueous ammonia (see column 16, lines 36-38).

Regarding claim 20, Sakai '258 does not disclose a template.

10. Claims 7, 9-10, and 20 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as anticipated by or, in the alternative, under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as obvious over Misuda '821.

Regarding claim 7, Misuda '821 discloses a method of making silica gel comprising hydrolysis of a silicon alkoxide (see column 2, lines 37-45) and keeping at 60-70 degrees for 4-10 hours (see column 5, lines 35-39).

Regarding claim 9, Misuda '821 discloses 60-70 degrees for 4-10 hours (see column 5, lines 35-39).

Regarding claim 10, Misuda '821 discloses addition of aqueous ammonia (see paragraph bridging columns 4-5).

Regarding claim 20, Misuda '821 does not disclose a template.

11. In the event any differences can be shown for the product of the product-by-process claims 7-10 and 20, as opposed to the product taught by Sakai '258 and/or Misuda '821, such differences would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made as a routine modification of the product in the absence of a showing of unexpected results; see also In re Thorpe, 227 USPQ 964 (Fed.Cir. 1985).

Art Unit: 1754

Allowable Subject Matter

12. Claims 22-31 are allowed.

13. Claims 5, 11-19, and 21 would be allowable if rewritten to overcome the rejection(s) under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, set forth in this Office action and to include all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

14. The following is a statement of reasons for the indication of allowable subject matter: A silica gel having a mode diameter (Dmax) of pores less than 20 nm and wherein the volume of pores having diameters within  $\pm 20\%$  of Dmax of at least 50% of the total pore volume would not have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made.

Conclusion

15. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure. Haraguchi et al. US 5,834,551 discloses a composite silica gel produced by hydrolysis of silicon alkoxide (see abstract, Examples).
